INTREPID THEATRE COMMUNICABLE DISEASE PREVENTION PLAN

OBJECTIVE AND USE OF THIS DOCUMENT:

This plan is for use by all those who frequent the Metro Studio, whether it is staff, patrons, volunteers, artists or visitors. Communicable disease prevention focuses on basic risk reduction principles to reduce the risk of transmission of COVID-19 and other communicable diseases. The fundamental components of communicable disease prevention include both ongoing measures to maintain at all times and additional measures to be implemented as advised by Public Health through industry specific Provincial Public Health Orders for Gatherings and Events.

A communicable disease is an illness caused by an infectious agent or its toxic product that can be transmitted in a workplace from person to person. Examples of communicable diseases that may circulate in a workplace include COVID-19, norovirus, and seasonal influenza.

This plan is a living document and policies and procedures will be reviewed weekly (or more frequently in the case of emergent health orders) and updated as needed by Intrepid Theatre's Producer Sammie Gough. Changes to this document will be communicated to all workers and communication will be sent out to all patrons and visitors to the venue.

An individual risk assessment will be conducted for each unique theatrical event in order to address any specific risks and implement any mitigation strategies that are required.
