

Humans of Fairy Creek: Accessibility Information

The Bayanihan Community Center is located at 1709 Blanshard St, just north of Fisgard St. The main room of the venue where the show takes place is wheelchair accessible. There is also a wheelchair accessible washroom. The Bayanihan Community Center is accessible by public transit (1 block away), bike, and vehicle. There is no parking at the venue. But there is street parking nearby, as well as the Centennial Square Parkade on Fisgard between Government and Douglas.

The entrance to the centre is a pair of large glass doors. There will be a table there, where show volunteers will check your ticket. The show starts at 7:30 pm. Purchase your tickets in advance at Humans of Fairy Creek tickets Please arrive 10-15 minutes before the show to give yourself time to get seated and settled. The seating capacity is 50 people.

The show is different every night, but some elements are the same. Every show will be hosted by Tasha Diamant. Some ensemble members will be there every night, while others will only be there a few times. You are free to leave the performance space and go outside at any time during the show and to return. We request that you return in between acts.

During the show, the lights will dim and brighten. There will be amplified voices and music using a speaker system. Except for September 2, every night will contain a 7 minute loud, distressing audio piece near the end of the show. There will be a warning about the sound piece during the show.

Every night will contain distressing content including topics such as: police violence, racism, queerphobia, misogyny, ableism, mental and physical health struggles, suicide, ecocide, as well as government and media and legal corruption. Again, audience members are free to exit the space at will and will be informed when the audio piece is coming up. There will be a guided debrief at the end of the show and resources available in the show program.

To request more accessibility information about the show or the venue in advance please contact production manager Corina Fischer at traverseartstheatre@gmail.com